Ontario Unions Win Bill 124 Legal Challenge

The Ontario Superior Court of Justice has struck down Bill 124 in its entirety. The court struck down the bill on the basis that it violates the fundamental constitutional rights to collectively bargain and to strike - constitutional rights recognized by the Supreme Court of Canada and enshrined in the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

We do not know yet how that will affect our Members. It could take several months/years before we know these answers.

We will keep you updated as we learn more.
