Attention Soon to be Retirees

If you are planning on or thinking of retiring soon and want to do some supply work in your retirement, the following information is important to you.

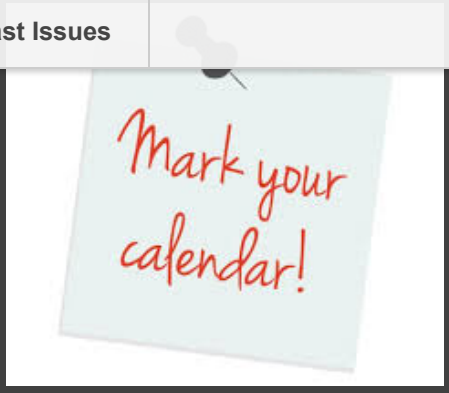

Please advise HR that you are retiring and let them know that you also would like to do some supply work after you retire. By doing so, you will NOT have to do the physical demands testing. If you retire and then choose to do supply work after the fact, then you will need to do the physical demands testing.

Consider your options. Stay warm and have a wonderful day.
